CONTENTS

COMMENTARY

207 Quality Improvement: Doing It Right
Lawrence F. Nazarian

ARTICLES

208 Quality Improvement: Buzz Words or Boon?
David A. Bergman

215 Index of Suspicion
Lawrence F. Nazarian, Neeru Sehgal

218 Hemolytic Uremic Syndrome
Charles L. Stewart and Leticia U. Tina

226 Immunodeficiency Disorders
Mikiko Iseki and Douglas C. Heiner

237 Consultation With the Specialist:
Chest Trauma in Children
James Seidel

240 Allergic Contact Dermatitis in Children
Peter A. Hogan and William L. Weston

ABSTRACTS

213 Learning Disabilities: Management

214 Learning Disabilities: Outcome

238 Parenteral Glucose for Low-Birth-Weight Infants

244 Car Seats and Seat Belts

245 Vaccine and Egg Allergy

246 Immunotherapy for Insect Stings

COVER

“Sara Handing a Toy to the Baby” was painted by Mary Cassatt (1845-1925). Cassatt, an American artist, was the daughter of a wealthy Philadelphia businessman. She went to Paris to study and never returned. Most of her paintings are of mothers and children, although she herself never married. This lovely painting shows an older sibling handing a toy to her younger brother. We all know that sibling relations are never this serene at all times, but we can always encourage the sharing and love so beautifully shown here. (This painting is reproduced with the permission of the Hill-Stead Museum, Farmington, CT.)

ANSWER KEY