Accreditation: The American Academy of Pediatrics is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to sponsor continuing medical education (CME) for physicians. Pediatrics in Review was planned and produced in accordance with the ACCME Essentials.

Credit Designation: The American Academy of Pediatrics designates this continuing medical education activity for up to 38 hours in category 1 credit towards the AMA Physicians's Recognition Award (3 hours per completed print issue and 2 hours per completed CD-ROM issue of PIR). Each physician should claim only those hours of credit that he/she actually spent in the educational activity.

PIR has been approved for credit as follows:

- American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP): up to 38 hours of credit toward the AAP PREP Education Award
- American Osteopathic Association (AOA): up to 12 hours, Category 2-B
- National Association of Pediatric Nurse Associates and Practitioners (NAPNAP): up to 38 contact hours

- Canadian Paediatric Society has approved PREP as one method for pediatricians to demonstrate maintenance of competence (MOCOMP)
- American Academy of Physician Assistants accepts AMA category 1 credit for the PRA from organizations accredited by the ACCME.
- PREP has been reviewed and accepted by the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) for up to 38 Prescribed hours. Term of approval begins January 1999. Enduring materials are approved for 1 year with the option to request renewal.

Disclosure: The American Academy of Pediatrics, in compliance with the ACCME Standards for Commercial Support, secures full disclosure from each author of any relationship that may present a conflict of interest. If an author discloses a relationship, or if a signed disclosure statement is not returned, information is included at the beginning of each article. Where no mention is made, the author admits there is nothing to declare.
